Dear Faraday residents,

Successful dispersal order in Burgess Park

We are pleased to share a positive outcome following the implementation of a dispersal order in Burgess Park over the past weekend.

In response to increasing reports of antisocial behavior and large unauthorized gatherings, a Section 35 dispersal order was authorized to prevent further escalation and ensured the park remained a safe, welcoming space for all.

Thanks to proactive planning and dedicated policing, the operation provided highly effective in maintaining public safety and addressing the concerns raised by residents and community stakeholders.

Over the course of the order, officers engaged with numerous individuals and groups, offering clear explanations of the order and encouraging voluntary compliance. Multiple individuals were directed to leave the area without incident. One arrest was necessary but the overall atmosphere remained calm and cooperative.

Supporting Our Officers in Burgess Park

We wanted to update the community on an incident that took place recently in Burgess Park. PC James REDMOND was assaulted while carrying out his duty to keep the public safe. During the incident, a suspect rode a bicycle into him, resulting in a fractured shoulder.

Thanks to the swift response of colleagues, the suspect was quickly detained, has been charged, and will appear in court this month.

We want to reassure our community that violence against officers will never be tolerated, and we remain committed to protecting both our officers and the public they serve.

Finally, we would like to thank the community for their continued support. Knowing that our officers have your trust and encouragement makes a real difference as we work together to keep our neighbourhoods safe!
